

Is finite-time pullback geometry more than a same-point local control?

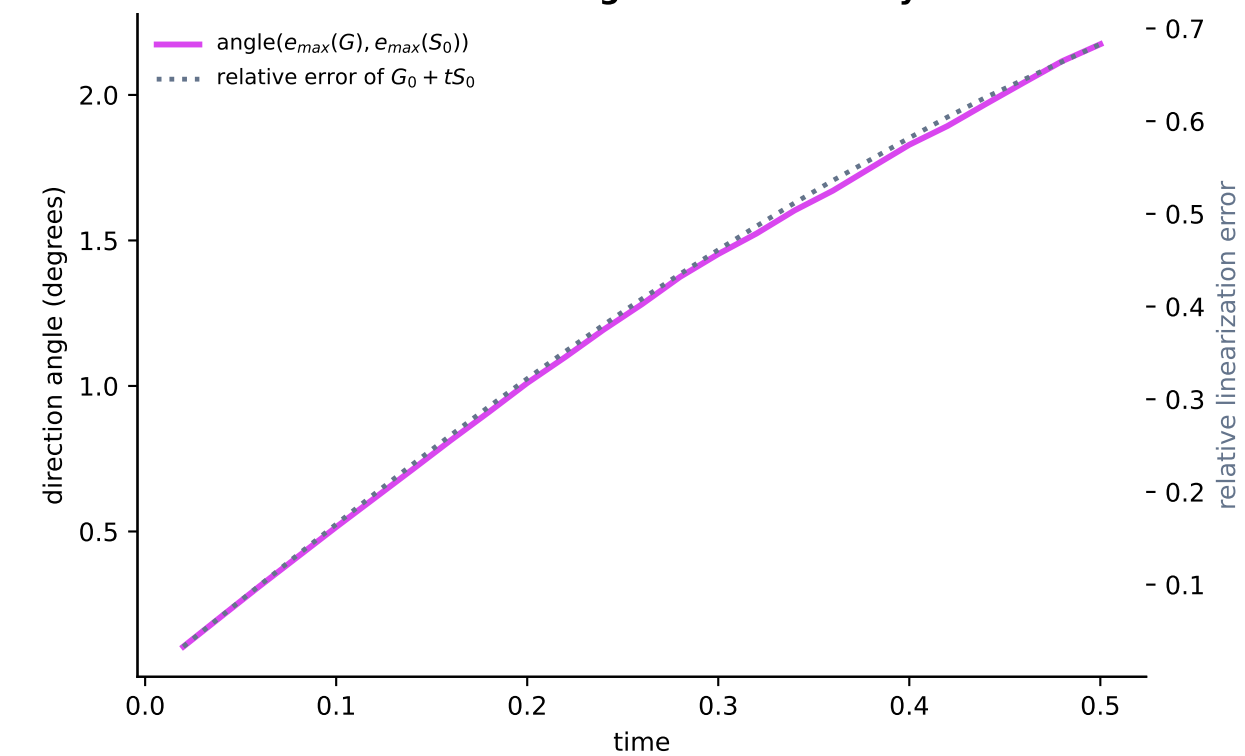

A All directions read at the same true-boundary points (t=1)

B Fair same-location angle to the true normal

C Does initial local strain generate the early G direction?

D Paired seed disadvantage relative to G

